

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

To provide a charge system that is reliable in the case where a printer at a shop provides a print service for printing print data transferred from a host computer of a user. Also, to provide a print service that can keep secrecy of the print data, in which the print data of a certain user is prevented from being simply appropriated by other users, or printed in accordance with an instruction of other users.

10082300.022602